11th Annual Adelante Awards

Last Saturday, Councilmember Huizar hosted the 11th Annual Adelante Awards, honoring top students from across CD14. Congratulations to Adelante Award winners from Northeast LA and to all graduating students!

Speedhumps Back on Addison Way!

CD14 successfully fought to have speed humps re-installed on Addison Way -- they were re-installed this week!

When Addison Way was resurfaced recently, the City failed to re-install the speed humps that the community fought to install. The CD14 office received several phone calls from concerned residents and so Councilmember Huizar made re-installing these speed humps a top priority.

On February 25, 2014 Councilmember Huizar submitted a motion in the City Council stipulating that:

- Any entity or agency that removes an existing speed hump be required to replace that speed hump within 60 days of completion of their work.
- The Department of Transportation and Street Services re-install any city approved speed hump removed as a result of street resurfacing since the dissolution of the speed hump program.

With this directive, CD14 staff worked closely with the Departments to secure re-installation of the speed humps on Addison.

Councilmember Huizar thanks everyone who contacted the CD14 office regarding the removal of the speed bumps. Thanks to your concern, the City of LA is now working toward ensuring timely re-installation happens citywide. In investigating this issue, CD14 found that when the Speed Hump program was discontinued in 2009 as a result of permanent budget reductions, re-installation of existing speed humps also fell by the wayside.

Councilmember Huizar is also leading the push on the City Council to re-instate the speed bump program. He believes – and studies show – that speed bumps make our streets safer. For more information on this or other issues, please contact the Northeast LA field office at (323) 254-5295.

Councilmember Huizar Secures Extension of Public Comment Period on Scholl Canyon Landfill Expansion Draft Environmental Impact Report

Glendale officials agreed to Councilmember Jose Huizar's request to grant a 60-day extension of the public comment period on the Scholl Canyon Landfill Expansion Draft Environmental Impact Report (EIR). The community of Eagle Rock deserves a full briefing and an opportunity for input.

On Thursday, May 22, 2014, Councilmember Huizar sent a letter to the City of Glendale requesting that Glendale: 1. Extend the public comment period, which was scheduled to end on Friday, May 30th, to allow for proper review and adequate outreach in the City of Los Angeles.

2. Allow the LA City Council District 14 office to assist Glendale with outreach to Eagle Rock and to help facilitate effective outreach to all stakeholders.

3. Hold a community meeting in Eagle Rock about the project and EIR.

We will announce the meeting as soon as the date and location are set.

In Case You Missed It: City of Glendale Plans to Expand the Scholl Canyon Landfill

The City of Glendale is proposing to expand Scholl Canyon Landfill to extend its useful life by another decade or more. The landfill is located just north of the 134 freeway in Glendale (see map above), and trucks can access the landfill only via Eagle Rock streets. Though the City of Los Angeles and Los Angeles residents are not permitted access to the landfill, we bear the brunt of impacts from truck traffic on the way to the dump.

The City of Glendale will be the Lead Agency and has prepared a Draft Environmental Impact Report (DEIR) for this project. The Sanitation Districts, an LA County agency, has identified two variations for the proposed project:

- Variation 1 - Vertical expansion only. Variation 1 will provide approximately 11.5 million cubic yards of additional capacity and will extend the life of the landfill by 13 years (assuming a continued baseline disposal rate of 1,400 tons per day).

- Variation 2 - Vertical and horizontal expansion. Variation 2 will provide approximately 16.5 million cubic yards of additional capacity and will extend the life of the landfill by 19 years (assuming a continued baseline disposal rate of 1,400 tons per day).

The proposed project will increase the capacity of the project site and therefore increase the life of the landfill to provide long-term disposal for the wasteshed. Neither variation would change current operations at the Scholl Canyon Landfill.

The Draft Environmental Impact Report (EIR) was released on April 1, 2014. You can view the Draft EIR here.

By Marni Epstein

MOUNT WASHINGTON — At the base of Mount Washington, at the intersection of Avenue 43 and Marmion Way, sits an unassuming two-story Mission-style building. While today it is a residence, from 1909 to 1919 it served a much different purpose. It was the Los Angeles and Mt. Washington Incline Railway Station, writes Water and Power.

While steep, most motor vehicles today can traverse the hills of Mt. Washington without much trouble. In the early 1900s, however, when developer Robert Marsh subdivided Mount Washington, the community's 940 foot-high summit seemed nearly insurmountable, and the prospect of homes almost laughable. Marsh originally toyed with the idea of building an open cable car system nearly 3,000 feet long, notes The Electric Railway Historical Association of Southern California. However, after seeing how the Angels Flight funicular, an incline railway, served Bunker Hill, Marsh & Co. landed on a similar counterbalance cable car system for their Mount Washington project.

The Los Angeles and Mt. Washington Incline Railway began operations up the hill on May 24, 1909 with over 2,000 riders making the nickel trip that day. The number of passengers far exceeded expectations. After another boom of riders in July, it quickly became clear that the popularity of the railway was no fluke, and that patrons of the railway would need an area in which to wait for their car or take shelter during inclement weather.

Architect Fred Dorn, who is also believed to be the architect of the George Washington Ewing Griffith House, was commissioned to build such a structure, according to the Electric Railway Historical Association of Southern California. Dorn built the two-story, Mission-style structure at the corner of Avenue 43 and Marmion Way, which contained a waiting room, confectionery and ticket window on the ground floor and a residence for the ticket seller on the second. Every day from 7 am to 6 pm, riders would come and go from the station as the cable car left in ten minute increments, taking riders to the summit where they would disembark at the grand Mount Washington Hotel.

The end of the station and the railways came in 1919 when, as 90042 Highland Park notes, the Los Angeles Board of Public Utilities demanded a maintenance and safety change to the railway which proved too expensive for Marsh. As a result, the railway ceased operations and residents were forced to walk the hill or buy a car in order to climb its slope.

Los Angeles Area Funiculars describes how the neighborhood lobbied the state of California to return service in 1921, but it proved to be unfruitful. After closing, the Mt. Washington Railway station became a market, and then eventually a private residence as it remains today.

The original building's arcade entrances have been enclosed at the front of the home and the banister across the balcony has been updated. Otherwise the building's exterior looks much the same today as it did back in 1909.

Hello Neighbor!

Eagle Rock Community Clean-Up Tomorrow, 9-11AM

Does your street or block need a bunch of helping hands to get it cleaned up fast? Is there an eyesore area of Eagle Rock that you drive/walk/bike by all the time, and say to yourself, "Man, if only I had 5 people, a bunch of tools and garbage bags, and a city truck to pick up all the junk, I'd fix this myself?" Well, here's your chance!

The Eagle Rock Community Clean Up event is tomorrow morning, Saturday June 7, from 9:00 - 11:00 am. Everyone will meet at Eagle Rock City Hall at 2035 Colorado Blvd, and head out to their favorite filthy areas from there.

The clean up event is short, but it's full of good stuff, including free t-shirts for volunteers, and plentiful refreshments; if you get to City Hall early (8:30-ish), you'll have time to stock up. So get some friends and neighbors together, and help clean up our neighborhood!

For more information, please call (323) 254-5295 or email lauren.ballard@lacity.org.
